Murmurmontis 1975

"There's a land of rolling mountains where the sky is blue above;
and though I may roam I hurry home to the friendly hills I love.
Where the moonlit meadows ring with the call of whippoorwills,
always you will find me in my home among the hills."

West Virginia Wesleyan College — a special way of life. To some it has become a life; others have only explored its possibilities. But all have grown and possibly have changed in some way for having come here.

For some, the challenge has been academic; others have experienced the beauty of new friends and different pleasures — maybe simple, but always memorable. Whatever are the goals, the joys, the sorrows, the empty days, or others more satisfying, we experience Wesleyan, and it becomes a part of us.

"The moments were so easily spent and gone almost before they had happened . . .
How is it you could lose them
   when you thought they were forever?

      Wonder back

         and where did it go . . . ?"

". . . Somewhere in the back of your head,
it is still there
Running in the streams of thought:
back to the snow covering the wide sidewalk,

back to a friend's smile,

a moment of silence when you hear your song."

". . . And talk of poems and prayers and promises and things that we believe in:

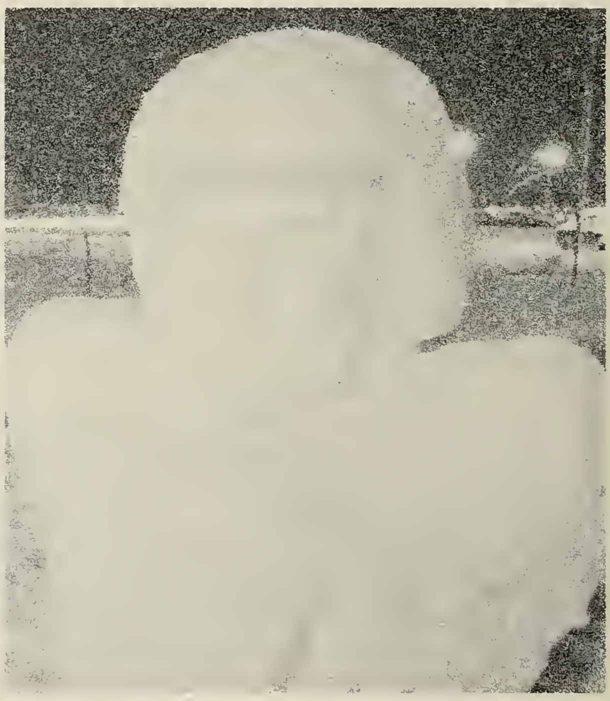
how sweet it is to love someone,
how right it is to care . . ."

". . . how long it's been since yesterday.

what about tomorrow?
What about our dreams
and all the memories we share?"



5

"We come into the world alone;
We go away the same.
We're meant to spend the interlude in between in closeness."

WESLEY CHAPEL

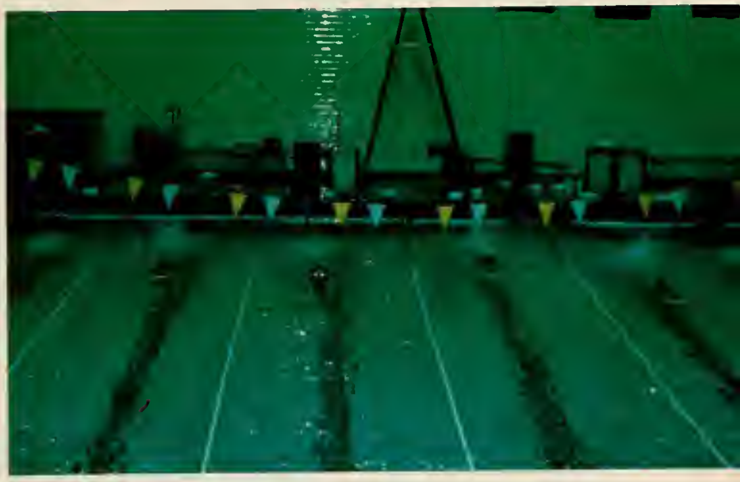
SPOOK OUT WAYNESBURG



"We do not remember days:
we remember moments."

"Together we walk onward . . .
beyond our vision into the unknown
where the path may be steep or narrow,
wide or straight,
in sunshine and rain . . .
It matters not,
because we are secure
and move toward greater wisdom blending in the glory of life and the promise of tomorrow."

Traditions

Wesleyan customs have been handed down from one class to the next throughout the generations of students who have been a part of life at Wesleyan. These customs have become the traditions which today hold together events of the present with memories of the past.

Freshmen were initiated into this life of traditions at the Founder's Day Convocation on October 25, 1974 as they were introduced to the formalities of academic life as the Wesleyan community honored its forefathers. Next came Homecoming and alumni were invited to return to grounds of more youthful days. Homecoming 1974 saw Barb Liske winning the crown of the fall festivities amidst the parading floats of ghosts and goblins following the theme "A Haunting We Will Go." Also part of the weekend activities were the Homecoming Dance, Bobcat football and soccer games and a concert featuring "Rare Earth."

Held in November was the Murmurmontis Queen Contest with Ruth Kulhavy emerging as queen to reign over her royal court. The Christmas season brought rituals such as the Hanging of the Greens and the Christmas Concert, as students began preparation for upcoming final examinations, looking forward to two-week vacations before returning to free-term classes.

Fairer weather brought Spring Weekend in April as students and faculty participated in Spring Sing, and enjoyed the weekend's other activities including a rugby game, Friday night's spring dance, and "Pure Prairie League" in concert. Following closely was graduation and the accompanying celebration activities. This brought another year to a close and perhaps reflects a tradition which is the most memorable and lasting for all students.

Administration

Academic departments were organized on a divisional basis to coordinate studies fording departmental lines. Division I which includes the various realms of Humanities, was chaired by Dr. Benjamin Lantz; Division II, Physical and Biological Sciences, was headed by Dr. Carl Colson; Social Science fields of Division III were directed by Dr. Howard Bright; Division IV encompassing Applied Arts and Sciences, was led by Mr. Patton Nickell.

Students became involved this year in current affairs of legislation on both a state and national level through petition and other structured action which was encouraged through faculty effort. Students were also active on a more personal level as the Academic Affairs committee of Community Council and the faculty of the Nursing Department combined efforts with President Rockefeller and Dr. Capitan to work through departmental problems. Both the Nursing and Biology Departments have invited their majors to be present at their faculty meetings both for purposes of representation and as voting members.

Several other transitions occurred such as the Psychology Department's move from Camden to Christopher Hall, a domain previously inhabited only by the Natural Sciences Departments.

More changes in the faculty-administration area included the opening of files of formerly confidential material to students as a result of the Buckley Amendment and the development of a Masters of Arts in Teaching, another first for Wesleyan begun in the summer of 1975.

The outstanding contributions of the year's faculty and administration of Wesleyan served very well to illustrate Professor Foote's statement that truly "Age is not a disease, but an accomplishment."

Academic and Cultural

Wesleyan revolves around the numerous academic and cultural activities that take place on campus throughout the year. 1974-75 saw many new opportunities in the Liberal Education Series (LES) programs and Free Term courses.

Highlighting the fall schedule of LES events was the North Carolina Dance Theatre which presented a workshop, demonstration session and a formal performance featuring both modern dance and more traditional ballet interpretations. Dr. Robert Francoeur spoke to the campus community on his theories and discoveries in the field of "Bioethics for Man-made Man." In the line of music were concerts by the Pocono Boys Choir and the Symphony String Trio.

Second semester LES specials included George Gallup, Jr. of the famed Gallup public opinion polls and, as Humanities programs open to the entire academic community, Zen Master Eido Roshi and cultural expert and one-time ambassador to Japan Edwin Reischauer.

Other programs beyond the realm of LES were the performance of visiting Oberlin College Choir and a talk and slide presentation by President Jay Rockefeller on his trip with other nationally-known educators to China.

Combining academic and cultural elements were many Free Term courses as students enjoyed off-campus encounters in Upshur County schools in education courses, field trips to Pittsburgh and Charleston in history and sociology classes, ski instruction with experience on the slopes, and overseas excursions to Munich, Germany, and to Switzerland. Other courses of unusual interest covered death and dying, aviation, photography, and fly-tying.

Over Spring Break Wesleyan's academic and cultural prowess was exhibited by the tour choir as it presented concerts in many New England states. This introduced Wesleyan to other communities and was a time of close communion and fellowship among choir members.

Honoraries

The life of Wesleyan's academics and activities is detailed in the several honoraries functioning on campus and in the annual honors awarded.

Spring brought initiation of candidates for some honoraries, such as Kappa Delta Pi (Education), Alpha Lambda Delta (Freshman-Sophomore Women), and Alpha Phi Gamma (Journalism).

During the spring semester Haught Senior Women's Honorary looked for admittance into the national association, Mortarboard. Meanwhile, reverberations of the Women's Liberation Movement hit the Junior-Senior Men's Honorary, Omicron Delta Kappa, causing a constitutional change permitting the nomination of women for membership.

Among the most highly coveted honors given during Awards Assembly 1975 were Wesley Ann and Wesley Andy, recognizing the senior woman and man who best exemplify Wesleyan's standards of activities and achievement. Meriting the position for 1975 were Sue Grove, Wesley Ann, and Bill Grant, Wesley Andy.

Other notables included the announcement of students elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities; the Pharos Best Athlete Awards, which went to Skip Morris and Janice Fogg; and the Wesleyan keys awarded to seniors for outstanding achievement or activity participation during their years at Wesleyan.

Organizations

A large part of student time was spent in extra-curricular activities on campus as students found fulfillment in the diversity of participation in the various organizations Wesleyan offers.

WHIP experienced a name change from Wesleyan Has Its Problems to Wesleyan Helps Its People and lived up to its new name as it promoted self-realization and concern in such health related areas as the breast self-examination, screening clinics for venereal disease, and early recognition of cancer. This provided a valuable source of health information from sources within the campus where before students were forced to seek health guidance from the town.

SPIRG led the battle to encourage student interest and action as it worked to affect decisions concerning the use of Upshur County land, banks' compliance with state laws and change in sex roles and attitudes. In an attempt to provide direct student governing action, the Judicial Committee of Community Council again organized. It tried only two cases in 1974-1975 with ninety percent of the action being referred instead to Dean Emery for consideration.

Women and their cause were saluted as Wesleyan took part in National Women's Week for the first time. But men were also active on campus this year as the first men graduated from the nursing program.

After a decision was made to cut school funds supporting operation costs of WVWC-FM, a search for alternate financial backing was initiated by concerned groups. It was announced that the station would continue broadcasting until the end of September 1975 because of a standing contract.

Community Council was active in leadership of the college community with Sue Grove surrendering her position of president to Matt Foreman. Students can look forward in 1976 to a year of strong student voice in both college and community policy.

Sports

During the past decade. Wesleyan athletes. for the most part. have existed in the middle of a thunderstorm. However. with the opening of the new gymnasium came rays of sunlight. These rays were exemplified by the sharing of a conference crown in cross country and second place finishes in soccer. swimming. track. and baseball. While most everyone saw these rays of sunlight. they did not feel their warmth until the resurgence of the basketball team cleared the skies. It was hard to believe that those Bobcats would win twelve of their last fifteen. and their last eight home games to post a 15-12 record. There were some great moments during that span which brought together one of the most spirited crowds in West Virginia to the new gymnasium. Who could ever forget the 97-94 thriller over Archie Talley and Salem or these nerve-racking 92-91 and 91-88 victories over Concord and Davis and Elkins? The excitement then left Wesleyan's gym and headed toward Charleston where visions of a Fairmont-Wesleyan Friday night semi-final match-up danced in everyone's heads. However. arch-rival Davis and Elkins caught the cats asleep in the opening round game and pulled the feared upset. However. even this did not dampen the enthusiasm of the underclassmen because they knew that Jerry Gatewood and the rest of the gang would be back for more fun and thrills in the gym.

There were other great moments such as the brilliant running of Greg Hendrickson. Dave Wriston and Warren Speicher in Morgantown. Soccer provided great excitement as Kurt Mohns. Ron Steel and Marty Johnson led the Cats to a 9-1-1 record and a 7th place ranking in the South. Skip Morris and Tom Walsh provided sunshine in swimming as they became Wesleyan's first NCAA All-Americans in that sport. The track team captured second place behind the performances of Jim Hennessey. Larry Schwoerer. Warren Speicher. Frank Hedderich and Greg Hendrickson. The baseball team had a phenomenal season with a 20-10 record. and finished second in the WVIAC. However. they felt raindrops when not allowed to participate in the NAIA play-offs because of an inefficient conference play-off system. Raindrops continued to fall on the Football team as they struggled through a 1-8 season. Jim Dingledine was finally recognized as a super player to give the only ray of sunlight. Football could be best summarized this way: with four minutes remaining in the game. Wesleyan led Glenville 17-7. The final score was Glenville 21. Wesleyan 17.

Women too found sunshine as Wesleyan began to develop a solid Women's program. For Julie Gilbert. a four year dream came true with the development of a women's team. For Janice Fogg. dreams were shattered when she was injured early in the basketball season. The women's swimming team continued to show great courage after the tragic death of Kas Swerden in 1974. Women's Field Hockey again provided women with a challenging sport. At last. women began to play a much more major role in the athletic picture. A song writer once wrote. "Here comes the Sun . . ." Such were sports at Wesleyan for 1974-75.

Greeks

Greek: a sisterhood and brotherhood.

Greek: a label worn proudly; Theta Chi, Kappa Alpha, Chi Phi, Phi Sigma Epsilon, Theta Xi, Alpha Delta Gamma, Zeta Tau Alpha, Alpha Xi Delta, or Alpha Delta Pi.

Greeks: create their own social order. During fall and spring rush, the anticipation is great as some make the grade and others don't. For those who do, Synder's is the place to go.

Greeks: provide a popular social atmosphere. Wednesday and weekend keggers, pledge formals, theme patrties, "free" dips in the Chi Phi pond, the Iris Ball, and Old South Weekend, provide a much needed diversion for the Greeks and Independents as well.

Greeks: portray a strong spirit of competition among themselves and with the rest of the campus. Alpha Xi Delta and Chi Phi were the winners of the spring Greek Week activities, while Alpha Gamma Delta took first place women's honors at the Spring Sing.

Greeks: give of themselves to others. Christmas parties for underprivileged children, Trick or Treat for Unicef, Adopt-a-child, and visiting Holbrook Nursing Home are just a few of the Greeks' altruistic projects.

Greeks: a pledging period. Hard work, big sisters and brothers, waiting on tables, signatures, interviews, commando walks, new friends, lineups, plunging grades, a happy smile and a sigh of relief at initiation.

Greeks: shirt, lavalier, and pin. A sorority girl gains new "brothers" while an Independent girl, becomes in a sense, "Greek."

Greeks: Individual yet together.

Independents

Independent: a noun. a verb. sometimes an action word. sometimes the object.

Independents as a group: provided their own version of softball. football. and basketball intramurals with such teams as Braless Bombers. Tennerton Snowchickens. Aggie and Friends. Entertained at Spring Sing with professional performances. Women and men. winning and losing.

Independent: self-reliant. self-confident. not subject to control by others. A diverse group. Some sub-divided into small cohesive groups. others simply a part of the whole community: never labeled —— never wanting to be. Many Independents find their own sense of unity through campus activities and groups: Debating. Theatre. W.H.I.P.. Tour Choir. New Dawn. Kappa Phi. Sigma Theta Epsilon. Others seem not to need this unity: either giving top priority to scholastic achievement or blending into the crowd. making themselves known to only a few.

Independent: not Greek. Each for his own reasons. Some never quite reach the grade requirement. some choose a group which doesn't choose them. some can't afford the dues . . . and others remain Indepedent by choice.

Independent: making your own social events: a night of basketball in the gym. bike rides and canoe trips to Audra. parties at Oldaker's farm. playing cards at the SCOW. playing guitars at night.

Independent: admired and overlooked. proud and indifferent. growing together and alone . . .

Underclassmen

From many places we come. Some of us are aware — we know where we're going and what we want to do. We come as Freshmen; most of us come from home and high school, anticipating, imagining, and hoping for an exciting college life. Sometimes we experience disappointment and uncertainty especially during our first semester as Freshmen. But we gradually become acquainted with this new and different life until finally we accept it as our own. We become part of the atmosphere of the college; we learn the places to be, the people we want to know, and we begin to shape our own lives. We get into our major, or out of it as we choose. By the time we have become sophomores, we feel more comfortable at Wesleyan, but still a part of our previous life and friendships remain. We come to accept and anticipate Wesleyan traditions and surprises. As we enter our junior year, a new sense of urgency and perhaps responsibility comes to us as we seriously prepare for our senior year and graduation. We become organized in our classes; leaders emerge and we begin to feel capable and able to function in our chosen field. We see where change is necessary as this year, many students have worked to initiate such change. We come to know ourselves, our goals, and our dreams and we look eagerly ahead, but also with a sense of sadness when we think of the time when we must leave Wesleyan.

"Life is made up of small comings and goings — and for everything we take with us, there is something we leave behind."

Graduates

Reflecting through the years of our time spent at Wesleyan recalls days that are gone forever — days when Freshmen girls had to be in at 10:30 on week days, counselors who were very much a part of dorm life and weekly "wing meetings" were the rule rather than the exception. Pantie raids were an accepted evening diversion as Wesleyan went through a period of transition to more mature pranks such as streaking.

Our class began to grow together and leaders and outstanding students emerged. We went from the leadership of Lyn Dotson to Monte Brown and Sue Grove and saw the election of Matt Foreman with the promise of controversial leadership in the coming year.

We participated in and experienced Wesleyan from our freshmen orientation when we listened with awe the first time we heard the alma mater to the meaningful traditions that fall semester brought. We became acquainted with LES, Founder's Day and the fanfare of Homecoming. We listened to Harry Chapin, the Grass Roots and later Mac Davis in the days before their fame removed them from our budget. We entered the Christmas season at Wesleyan experiencing the joys of shopping in Buckhannon and attempting to bring the Christmas spirit into our lives while coping with the terror of our first finals week.

The spring semester acquainted many of us with the Greek system as we split to join different brother and sisterhoods. We began hearing about Spring formals and Spring weekend as many of us participated in the Sing.

We watched as Seniors prepared to graduate taking URE's and GRE's with little idea of how soon we too would be preparing for them. We listened as the Viet Nam war was ended, at least for America, and inflation set in. Watergate became the issue of our junior and senior year ending with the trial and indictment of President Nixon and his aides during our senior year. Viet Nam again became an issue as South Viet Nam was defeated . . . while we prepared for graduation.

As we ended our college days, we began thinking of life beyond Wesleyan with its sameness and security. But special memories of our college days will always be with us as we hope that what we leave behind will continue to shape student's lives in the future.

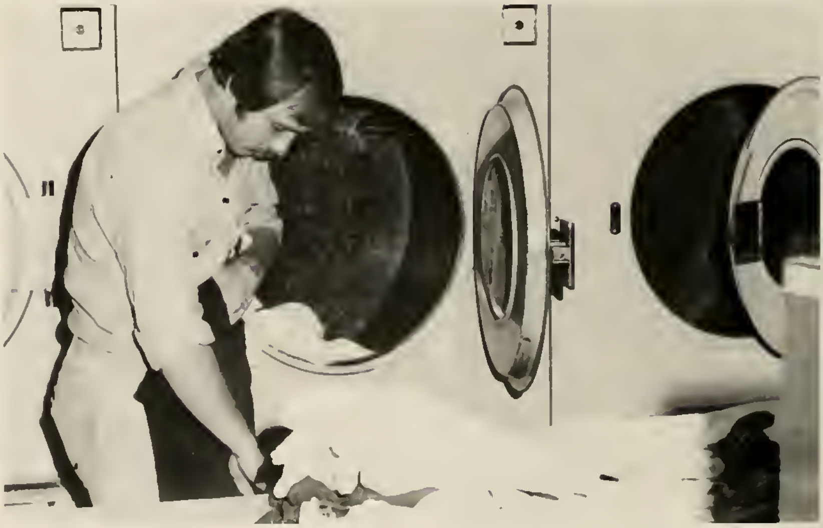
Life at Wesleyan

Life at Wesleyan holds a multitude of meanings for the variety of people each of us is. To most students, it is much more than class and study time, friends, love, caring, action, good times and bad.

A migration to off-campus housing brought an independent way of life to many students. The completion and dedication of the new gym acted as a centripetal force bringing the campus together and making possible more weekend activities. Weekends also improved as CCPB and off-campus theatres came through with newer and higher quality films. However students began taking advantage of short holidays to Snowshoe and other near-by ski areas which became really popular this year. Super-Bowl weekend saw a near-empty campus as students flocked to Pittsburgh for the Steeler victory celebration. Return to campus was not always the joy leaving was as many Wesleyanites visiting northeastern homes swamped Maryland churches and fire stations when stormed in by the Thanksgiving snow and didn't reach school until Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday following Fall Break.

Changing student attitudes have brought wider acceptance of drugs as their use has changed from a rebellion to a way of life for an increasing number of students. 1974-75 also saw a tuition increase caused by burdens of the energy crisis and inflation. While underclassmen see in the future rising costs for room and board, less time traveling because of expense and heavier restrictions upon water and heat use, many graduating seniors look to higher prices and grim job opportunities.

Though each year brings change and perhaps a new style of life to Wesleyan students, many traditions remain unchanging to the campus. This sense of sameness adds to Wesleyan a uniqueness, but also a sense of security in the very fast-moving and highly mobile world of today.



To Live . . .

"I've been thinking lately of my life.
It's been a good one, nice just to hang around."

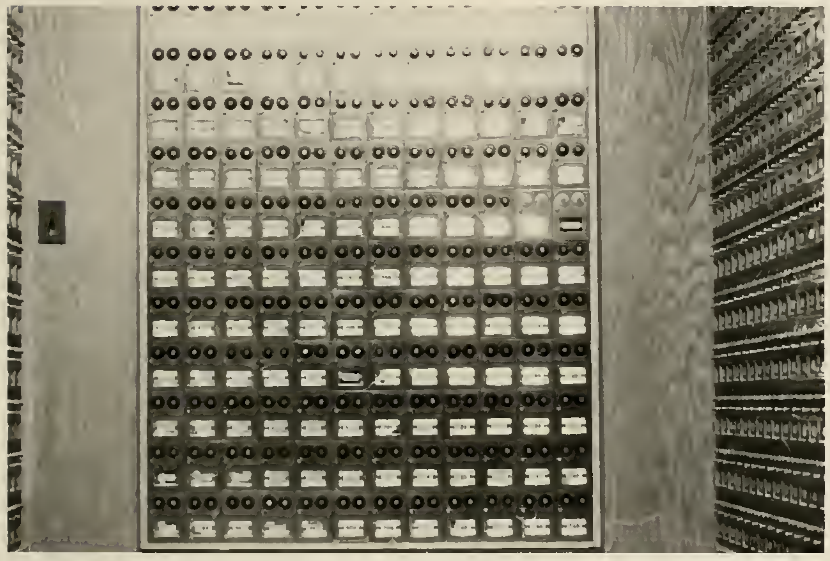
To Love . . .

"When someone cares
it is easier to speak
it is easier to listen
it is easier to play
it is easier to work
When someone cares
it is easier to laugh."



To Discover . . .

"Our life is the land we explore and the end of all our explorations will be to come back to where we began and discover the place for the first time."

To Challenge . . .

"To be nobody-but-yourself in a world which is doing its best, night and day, to make you everybody else — means to fight the hardest battle which any human being can fight; and never stop fighting."

To Think . . .

". . . the time for being alone in your world to decide answers for all the questions that summer brought . . ."

To Remember . . .

"It was Old College Avenue . . .
I remember it as if it were today —"

Specification

The 1975 Murmurmontis, published annually by the students of West Virginia Wesleyan College, is copyrighted, printed and bound by the Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. The paper is Taylor enamel. The cover is of Rhino grain with embossed lettering and Smyth binding; the silkscreen photograph is by Howard Hiner.

With a press run of 1300 books, the 1975 Murmurmontis was published on a budget of $13,000.

Thanks to: Paul Farren, Debbie Riffee, Mike Denning, and students who entered the photography contest. Special thanks to Jerry Cramblett from Columbus, Ohio for contributing many of the color prints in pages 1-16. Class portraits are by Vantine Studios.

Conclusion

We have reached the end of a book, a year, and for some . . . . a way of life. The purpose of this book has been to capture a part of the spirit of this school — this way of life — with the hope that through these pages your memories will last a lifetime and perhaps be shared by others.

I thank those who have contributed to the 1975 Murmurmontis; first to the staff who spent many long, hard hours doing an impossible amount of work. I hope with this book, each will feel a certain success and pride. Thanks to Mrs. Baldwin for her support and encouragement as well as editing assistance, and to Ron Richardson of Taylor Publishing Company for his advice and concern.

Recognition is due to Howard Hiner and the student photographers who provided some excellent pictures.

Special thanks to my friends who have helped both by working with and listening to me concerning this book.

And finally, my greatest appreciation to Susan Myers whose help, determination and acceptance made this book possible.

Jeannie Bowen
Editor

"We came to learn.
We learn to love.
and that makes parting hard."

"There's a land of rolling mountains where the sky is blue above;
and though I may roam I hurry home to the friendly hills I love.
Where the moonlit meadows ring with the call of whippoorwills,
always you will find me in my home among the hills."
